How to get there ?

The Berlin-Potsdam-area enjoys a well developed public transportation system, which takes you everywhere you want in a reasonable time. Check the attached transportation map of Berlin and Potsdam for details.

Go to http://www.vbb-online.de/ or http://www.bvg.de/ (just click on the British Flag for the English Versions) to get your individual connection.

Below you find a brief selection of how to get to Potsdam/Golm (depnding on your arrival date-arrival time there might be alternative connections).

Arriving by Plane

If you come to Berlin by plane you will arrive either at

- 1) Tegel airport (TXL)
 - take the bus X9 to Berlin Zoologischer Garten Train Station.

- take the line RE 1 (Regional Express Train) towards BRANDENBURG or MAGDEBURG (timetables are located on every platform, showing time, platform, track)

- get off the train at Potsdam Hauptbahnhof (Potsdam Main Station)
- walk to Hotel Mercure

or if you are staying at Landhotel Golm change into train RB 21 (towards Wustermark or Golm) or RB 20 (towards Hennigsdorf).

- 2) or Schönefeld airport (SXF)
 - -walk to the train station (~10 min)

-take the train S 9 (towards Spandau) until Berlin Ostbahnhof (~30 min)

-at Ostbahnhof change into line RE 1 towards BRANDENBURG or

MAGDEBURG (timetables are located on every platform, showing time, platform, track)

- get off the train at Potsdam Hauptbahnhof (Potsdam Main Station)
- walk to Hotel Mercure

or if you are staying at Landhotel Golm change into train RB 21 (towards Wustermark or Golm) or RB 20 (towards Hennigsdorf).

Fares

Single Tickets

As indicated on the Map, the Berlin Area is divided into 3 fare Zones A,B,C. The zones A,B cover the whole city of Berlin, whereas zone C covers the surrounding cities. The Potsdam area itself is contained in zone C. In order to get from the airports to Potsdam you are required to take a Berlin ABC-Single-ticket (for ≤ 2.60), which must be validated (insert it into the slit of the red or yellow/white validation machines located at every platform, the machine will print the date and time on the ticket) before entering a train and are valid for 2 hours.

Note, that additionally the Potsdam area itself is divided into 3 fare zones. So during the conference week in order to get from Potsdam Hbf (main station) to Golm (PM) train station it is sufficient to use a Potsdam AB Single ticket (for €1.50 per trip), (however these ticket DO NOT allow you to get to Berlin).

When entering a bus the validated ticket must be presented to the bus driver, in trains tickets are frequently checked by staff.

1 Day / 7 Day Tickets

If you want to use the public transportation more frequently it might be worth to buy a 7-day ticket (check the fare information at http://www.vbb-online.de/ for that) either for the Potsdam AB-Area (\in 11.10) or the whole Berlin ABC-area (\in 31.30). Also daily tickets are available. Also these tickets have to be validated (if date and time are not already printed on the ticket).

Ticket Machines / Ticket Windows

Tickets can be bought at ticket machines (indicated by 'Fahrkarten'=tickets) (choose the british flag on the touch-screens and follow the instructions) or at ticket windows ('DB-Reisezentrum' = German Railway Travel Center) located at every bigger train station (ZOO, Potsdam Hbf).

Usually the ticket machines accept European Debit Cards (EC, Maestro) as well as cash (notes / coins), note that there might be a limit of change these machines give (e.g. one should not pay a Potsdam AB-Single-Ticket with a \notin 20 note).

Credit cards are accepted at every ticket window.

Timetable

See attached below the detailed timetable for Potsdam Hbf $\leftarrow \rightarrow$ Golm (PM) connections. Timetables can be found at every station.
